

Hi Hiring Manager,

Hope you're doing great!

Just wanted to share a few things about me that don't quite show up on my resume:

- I'm a problem solver at heart. I've been playing around with DC motors and Arduino kits since high school.
- I love getting into the weeds of a tough problem, the more complex it gets, the more fun I'm having.
- I'm a high-energy guy. Think of me like Red Bull, I bring energy to the team and try to keep the vibe upbeat and collaborative.
- Big Kobe fan. I really admire his discipline and work ethic. I try to bring that same "Mamba mentality" into everything I do, focused, driven, and always pushing to be better.
- Great communicator and I just enjoy connecting with people and making solutions click.
- I'm a good cook, well at least that's what my friends say. Hence, free home-cooked meals on me once a week, well maybe twice.
- Great at holding conversations from agents to karma, hosted multiple events, and acquired $150K in funds for Stony Brook's Graduate Student Organization.

Looking forward to joining your team and contributing in the near future.

Best regards,
Sai
